The application has been amended as follows:

In the abstract:

The abstract has been changed to the following:

--ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Apparatus and methods for electrostatically applying a powder material to substrates are described. A plurality of platens (202) are provided, each arranged to hold a plurality of substrates such as solid dosage forms. Each platen is driven around an endless path and passes through a loading region (205) in which substrates are loaded onto the platens, a developing region (207) in which the powder material is applied to the substrates, a fusing region (209) in which the applied powder material is fused, and an unloading region (211) in which substrates are removed from the platens.--

In the claims:

In claim 82, line 7, after “path”, --wherein the applicator assembly comprises at least one applicator having a supply of powder material and charging means for electrostatically charging the powder material-- has been inserted.

Claim 83 has been cancelled.

In claim 84, line 1, "claim 83" has been changed to --claim 82--.

In claim 104, lines 3-4, “the upper platen” has been changed to --an upper platen--.

In claim 104, line 5, “the lower platen” has been changed to --a lower platen--.

In claim 109, line 2, “the upper platen” has been changed to --an upper platen--.

In claim 109, lines 2-3, “the lower platen” has been changed to --a lower platen--.

In claim 112, line 3, “the upper platen” has been changed to --an upper platen--.

In claim 112, line 4, “the lower platen” has been changed to --a lower platen--.

The following is an examiner’s statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 82, 84-88, and 90-111 are allowable because there is no teaching or suggestion in the prior art of an apparatus for electrostatically applying a powder material to substrates, the apparatus comprising the combination of platens arranged to move along an endless path, each platen being arranged to hold substrates; means for driving the platens along the endless path; an applicator assembly for applying the powder material to the substrates, the applicator assembly being located on a part of the endless path wherein the applicator assembly comprise at least one applicator having a supply of powder material and means for electrostatically charging the powder material; and a transfer station for transferring the substrates between the platens.
